

Case Study: Health & Safety Consultancy Support for Flexco UK

Client: Flexco UK

Consultant: Sean Sanders, QHSE Integrity Services Ltd

Duration: 5 years (ongoing)

Overview

Sean Sanders has provided ongoing health and safety consultancy support to Flexco UK for over five years. The engagement has focused on strengthening health and safety governance, achieving regulatory compliance, and embedding a practical and effective safety culture aligned to business needs.

Scope of Support

Support has included the development, implementation, and maintenance of a structured health and safety management system, alongside the provision of general and bespoke health and safety training. Sean provides regular on-site support, legislative updates, and practical advice to management and staff, ensuring systems remain current and effective.

Outcomes

Flexco UK now operates a detailed and robust health and safety management system that supports compliance, continual improvement, and employee wellbeing. Ongoing reviews ensure the system remains aligned with legislative changes and operational requirements.

Client Testimonial

“Having used QHSE for many years to assist with our ISO accreditation, we reached out to them and had Sean assist with our Health & Safety. Like most places, we take the safety of our employees seriously and Sean has been great in assisting with this, he’s helped us create a detailed management system and comes to the office regularly to keep us informed of new legislation, update the system and make sure we’re covering all bases and then some. If you’re looking for assistance with Health & Safety Sean’s your man.”
