

Case Study: Health & Safety Consultancy Support – Testing Laboratory

Client: High Street Textile Testing Services Ltd

Consultant: Sean Sanders, QHSE Integrity Services Ltd

Duration: 2018 – 2024

Overview

From 2018 to 2024, Sean Sanders provided health and safety consultancy support to a busy UK-based testing laboratory. The engagement focused on delivering clear, practical guidance to support regulatory compliance, effective risk management, and continual improvement within a resource-conscious operating environment.

Scope of Support

Support included ongoing health and safety advice to senior leadership, the simplification of complex regulatory and risk issues, and the development of proportionate solutions aligned to operational priorities. Sean worked collaboratively with the Managing Director and leadership team to balance compliance, risk reduction, and continuous improvement in a cost- and resource-efficient manner.

Outcomes

The organisation benefited from improved clarity around health and safety responsibilities, enhanced risk management processes, and a pragmatic approach to continual improvement. Long-term support enabled sustained compliance and confidence at senior leadership level.

Client Testimonial

“I’ve had the pleasure of working directly with Sean throughout 4 years I spent as managing director of a busy testing laboratory, and he’s someone I’ve come to rely on for clear, practical and well-balanced guidance. Sean has a real talent for simplifying complex issues and focusing on what truly matters.

I particularly appreciate how he helps me manage risk alongside continuous improvement in a resource- and cost-efficient way, always with a pragmatic and collaborative approach. He brings expert knowledge, professionalism, calmness and a positive attitude to every discussion — and he’s great to work with.

I’m happy to recommend Sean as a knowledgeable, dependable and genuinely valuable partner in any organisation.”
