Dear Sirs

Re AllDay Safety Services Limited

I am a solicitor specializing in representing companies and senior individuals facing criminal investigation and/or prosecution by the police, HSE or other regulatory authority following a work related incident.

I have known Tony Day and Carl Wright, directors of AllDay Safety for over three years. Their consultancy in my experience provides professional, pragmatic and practical advice and assistance to companies operating in the construction industry. I know AllDay Safety has a long association with the Construction Health & Safety Group and is held in high regard by many people working in the industry.

I have worked with AllDay Safety when advising companies facing investigation. AllDay Safety is always very supportive. I have found its assistance and advice extremely helpful and clear particularly when dealing with complex construction issues.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Sirs,

RE: ALLDAY SAFETY LIMITED AND TONY DAY

I am a solicitor specialising in Health and Safety law. I represent and advise companies, organisations and individuals in health & safety and regulatory matters, particularly investigations and prosecutions for alleged breaches.

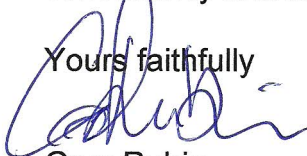

In the 17 years that I have been practising in this area of law I have encountered numerous health and safety advisors, experts and consultants. Knowing Tony Day as I do and having spent time discussing safety issues with him, I can categorically say that he and AllDay Safety Limited are amongst the best that there is in relation to expertise, technical knowledge and more importantly the ability to give sound, practical and clear advice.

I have also met Tony's co director Carl and some of the advisors employed and associated with the company and they too work under the same philosophy as Tony by ensuring the delivery of a excellent service. I am also aware that Tony and the company are pro active supporters of the Construction Health & Safety group and committed to promoting a strong health & safety culture.

I am currently working on a large criminal prosecution representing an individual for alleged breaches under the Health and Safety at Work Act 1974. The advice and guidance that Tony has given in relation to some of the more complex construction issues has been invaluable.

I would have no hesitation in recommending AllDay Safety Limited to any company or contractor in the construction industry wishing to benefit from the expert safety consultancy and advice that Tony Day and his team have to offer.

Yours faithfully

Dear Tony

REFERENCE

As you are aware I am a specialist Health & Safety lawyer. I hold the Office of Secretary for the Health & Safety Lawyers Association and I am also a Trustee of the Construction Health & Safety Group.

For the purpose of your upcoming quality assurance review I am writing to confirm our contacts by way of a reference for those it may concern.

I am delighted to confirm that we have known each other for a number of years through our involvement with the Construction Health & Safety Group. I am aware that you have a long association with that group and that you share and support common goals promoting safety management within the construction industry.

On a personal level I am happy to confirm that I have found your approach to be personable, accessible and professional and that I have direct experience of your quick response to clients with whom you work who find themselves in need of urgent health and safety support.

Yours sincerely

Re Antony Day and AllDay Safety Services Ltd

I am a solicitor specialising in representing companies and individuals facing investigation and/or prosecution for alleged health and safety breaches.

I have known Antony Day and AllDay Safety Services Limited for approximately a year. The consultancy in my experience provides professional, pragmatic and practical advice and assistance to companies operating in the construction industry.

I recently worked alongside one of AllDay's consultants in assisting a small construction company that was being investigated by HSE in respect of an industrial accident. Clear advice was given in respect of the causes of the accident and how procedures could be improved. The client was assisted with its approach to HSE who have decided to take no further action in the matter.

Yours faithfully.

Dear Mr Day

Having had contact with many different safety consultancies over the years I thought it would be good to write and tell you that I have found the service that All Day Safety Services provides to be second to none.

As a Principal Contractor we have highly valued your input to both ourselves and some of our subcontractors. It is worth mentioning that your safety documentation, especially in the form of site specific risk assessments and method statements really is of the highest quality. Often including many clear diagrams of the safe systems of work.

I personally have found the advice of All Day Safety to be invaluable. I can recall many conversations over the years where advice on complex safety issues has been sort. Having found all of your safety practitioners to have both a depth of knowledge coupled with practical solutions for any given situation. Notably recent assistance from Carl Wright on lifting operations. I'd even found his knowledge in this field to exceed that of the late Danny Morris.

I also know many other Principal Contractors H&S Managers/ Directors share my view of you organisation.

Keep up the outstanding work and I look forward to our ongoing relationship in 2012

I have known AllDaySafety for many years and have no hesitation in recommending the very professional and practical health and safety consultancy services they offer. It is my experience the safety advisors who attend site are very knowledgeable and competent, capable of undertaking works for Principal Contractors and Sub-Contractors alike.

AllDaySafety are one of very few consultancies that have attained ISO9001 Quality Assurance and Investors In People accreditations, which I know they value highly. They are also regarded as being a very experienced construction orientated safety consultancy. The systems and procedures they help establish with sub-contractor is of a high calibre, with comprehensive and detailed method statements, risk assessments and where necessary accident or incident investigation reports.

The company prides itself on providing an 'in-house' style service, where Sub-contractors can benefit from the familiarity and reliability of having at hand a team of safety professional acting as though they were the Sub-contractors own 'in-house' team.

The fact that AllDaySafety dedicate a nominated Safety Advisor to each Client means that consistency is developed between sites with all parties understanding and accepting their individual responsibilities to maintain a high level of prudent health and safety.

I am happy to work with AllDaySafety and sometimes relieved when I know that Contractors on our sites are using them to help establish and maintain safe systems of work.

Yours faithfully

We have worked with All Day Safety since September 2008.

During this time we have always found the company and their staff to be excellent support for our Health & Safety requirements.

The Health & Safety packs produced by ALL Day for use on our sites are excellent. Many of our clients have commented on how informative and well presented they are.

We have also found the technical support and response times to calls and queries to be very good.

We will be continuing to use All Day's services for the future.

If any further information is required, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Re: All Day Safety

I have known Anthony Day and All Day Safety for over 15 years in their capacity as Health and Safety Advisers to our supply chain. More recently, I have had dealings with Antony as a fellow member of the Construction Health and Safety Group.

All Day Safety take their role personally and are extremely serious and passionate on all matters of Health and Safety. More importantly they display a clear concern for the well being of all workers and not only those employed by the companies who they advise.

In my dealings with Anthony I have always found him professional and able to communicate fresh ideas and concerns with equal consideration and openness.

RE: Reference letter Tony Day and All Day Safety Services Ltd

To whom it might concern

I have known Tony Day in a professional capacity for a number of years, in particular, our association through the Construction Health and Safety Group.

His dedication as a Safety Practitioner is exemplary and his enthusiasm for enhancing health and safety standards within the construction industry is unflinching.

He brings these values into the overall management of his company, AllDay Safety Services Ltd.

For over 10 years, J Reddington Ltd employed AllDay Safety Services Ltd as their health and safety Consultants. To my knowledge, their services were performed to a high standard, and their responses to events requiring urgent attention were always dealt with professionally and to the satisfaction of J Reddington Ltd.

It was as a result of the strategic development programme of the Reddington Group for 2009 that it was agreed to provide in-house health and safety cover to all Operating Companies of the Group. Accordingly, as of the 1st July 2009, and albeit reluctantly, AllDay's services were no longer required.

However, I have no hesitation in recommending AllDay Safety Services Ltd as a premier business to provide external health and safety services to companies within the construction industry.

Yours faithfully

REF. ALL DAY SAFETY SERVICES LIMITED.

We are pleased to give a reference on All Day Safety Services Limited.

We have found All Day Safety Services Limited (ADSSL) to be very reliable. They attended site visits and any safety meeting when requested and attend at short notice,

We would say that ADSSL are highly committed to their work and their clients.

ADSSL has the ability to carry out their duties to a high standard on all contracts we carry out whether large or small.

ADSSL carry out safety site inspections and submit a detailed written report to our Site Supervisor. This report indicates whether we are working in a safe manner or not. During these visits the Safety Advisor gives our Site Supervisor and Operatives safety advice on the works operations.

We are very confident with ADSSL attending safety meetings and liaising with our clients on our behalf.

ADSSL has great experience and knowledge in the safety services they provide to ourselves.

We would say the ADSSL has a good ability regarding Information, Technology and Computers as all the Reports, Method Statements, Risk Assessments, etc etc, they issue, are presented to a very high and professional standard.

With the services ADSSL give our company, we would say we are getting value for money.

We have a good business relationship with ADSSL and foresee a long and rewarding future for both parties.
